

JES Volunteer Code of Ethics 2009-2010 School Year

In order to promote volunteering in our schools, it is essential for all school volunteers to adhere to a professional Code of Ethics. When signing this Code of Ethics you agree to the following expectations:

- Positive Attitude: Please come to school with a good attitude and dressed appropriately. Your attitude and dress should say to the students that they are special and you are glad to be here with them. Students also see you at school and look to you, just as they do teachers.
- Dependability: Please be dependable. The teachers are planning activities for you and the students. Please always communicate with the teachers if you are not able to make it.
- Communication: We want your volunteer work to be a rewarding experience for you; therefore, if you have questions as to your responsibility please contact the appropriate person (i.e., the teacher, volunteer coordinator).
- Confidentiality: At times, you may have access to grades, reading levels, or math levels. You may be privy to conversations in the teacher's lounge or workroom. You may know which children are struggling. Please remember that all information regarding students and teachers is private and must be left at school.
- Support: As a school volunteer, you are always in a support position. Your support is invaluable as the faculty and staff is responsible for the education of the students at our school.

As a JES school volunteer, I agree to this Code of Ethics and understand in doing so I will be a vital support that makes Johnson a great place for children.
